The Oxford College of Pharmacy's R&D Committee meeting for the academic year 2023-2024 was held at 1:00 PM and presided over by Dr. Padmaa M. Paarakh. The chairperson welcomed all the members, and the agenda was discussed.

Agenda 1: Review of Agenda of previous MOM and Action taken report

- The member secretary presented the R&D committee's action taken report to the committee members. The committee members suggested to complete all ongoing activities within the defined timelines.

Resolution

The committee members approved the MOM and action taken status of the previous R&D minutes.

Agenda 2: Proposed research activities by concern department to be organized

- The chairperson of R&D has informed all HODs and faculty members to publish one research article per semester and organize ICMR, RGUHS, and APTI-funded conferences, workshops, and FDP programs.

Resolution

It is resolved that faculty members should publish one research article per semester in indexed journals and to undergo planned research workshops.

Agenda 3: Review of short-term proposal for submitting for RGUHS grant.

- During the "R&D Proposal Review" meeting, the chairperson inquired about the status of the RGUHS UG short-term project received in the previous year.
- The chairperson has instructed faculty members to prepare and submit short-term UG proposals to the scrutiny committee before 20th February 2024.
- The committee suggested encouraging student research projects that align with institution guidelines, focusing on innovative ideas to advance pharmacy professional practice in health care.

Resolution

- It was resolved that all the proposals be reviewed and selected based on merit relevance, practicality, and impact to be submitted to the RGUHS grant.

Agenda 4: Discussion on developing a concept bank, including faculty competency to apply for extramural funding.

It was discussed that a concept bank for faculty should be developed in line with faculty competency, as the same would facilitate submitting proposals for extramural grants.

Resolution

It is resolved that the members applauded the proposal to develop a concept bank and suggested proceeding immediately.

Agenda 5: Review of proposals for intramural seed money grant.

- The committee members were briefed on the proposal review status of the projects eligible for submission to the institution's grant seed money scheme.

Resolution

It is resolved the projects are to be selected based on a multidisciplinary approach with impact. It is further resolved the selected proposals should have practical applicability, sustainability, and scope for scalability, as the same shall facilitate the nurturing of research acumen among students and faculty.

Agenda 6: Discussion on upcoming IPR seminars and RM workshops.

- The R&D team discussed the upcoming workshops and conferences for the next quarter. Key discussion points included identifying potential themes and speakers and targeting the audience to facilitate research acumen.

Resolution

It was resolved that the workshops shortlist target both early-career researchers and experienced faculty members, aiming to bridge the gap in knowledge around these critical areas.

Agenda 7: Discussion on launching the Oxford College of Pharmacy journal with ISSN and submitting it to UGC for enrollment into UGC care list.

- The discussion revolved around the importance of having a dedicated journal for the college, the benefits of obtaining an ISSN (International Standard Serial Number), and the significance of being listed in the UGC (University Grants Commission) care list discussed in detail.

Resolution

After a thorough discussion, it was resolved to launch the Oxford College of Pharmacy journal with an ISSN. Obtaining UGC indexing is crucial for enhancing the college's academic reputation, providing a platform for faculty and students to publish their research, and contributing to the knowledge in the field of pharmacy.

Agenda 8: Discussion on constituting a scientific advisory committee to evaluate UG, PG, and Pharm.D research proposals.

- During the meeting, the chairperson and members discussed the need to constitute a scientific advisory committee to evaluate undergraduate (UG), postgraduate (PG), and Pharm. D research proposals.
- The discussion highlighted the crucial role of a scientific advisory committee in ensuring the quality and validity of the research proposals submitted by students, underscoring the value of each member's contribution to the research oversight process.

Resolution:

- It was resolved to form a scientific advisory committee.
- This scientific advisory committee, comprising experienced faculty members, will evaluate and provide feedback on UG, PG, and Pharm.D research proposals.

The committee members also decided to schedule a review meeting every quarter of the academic year. Finally, the Member secretary of R&D proposed a vote of thanks and concluded the meeting.

ACTION TAKEN REPORT-2023-24

S. No	Resolution	Action Taken	Status
1	The committee members approved the MOM and action taken status of the previous R&D minutes.	At the previous Research and Development (R&D) meeting, the committee members reviewed and approved the Minutes of Meeting (MOM) as well as the action taken report.	All members expressed satisfaction with the work done.
2	It is resolved that faculty members should publish one research article per semester in indexed journals and to undergo planned research workshops.	The HODs and faculty members have been informed about the research publications. They have been encouraged to contribute to research activities. The member secretary has also provided support and guidance to the faculty members regarding review and research publication guidelines. The faculty members were encouraged to submit research proposals and organize conferences, workshops, and FDP.	The faculty members' active engagement in research activities, in response to the Chairperson's R&D advice, is a testament to their dedication and commitment to enhancing the institution's research culture. The faculty members have taken up the challenge and submitted proposals for research and development activities. With the implementation of the university and institution guidelines and the positive response from the faculty members, the institution is expected to see an increase in research output and participation in conferences and workshops.
3	It was resolved to review all the proposals and select the proposals based on merit relevance,	The action taken was that the team had already compiled the final report,	The status of the agenda was marked as complete, pending submission of the final report to the university.

	practicality, and impact same to be submitted to RGUHS grant.	and the guide was currently reviewing it. The Chairperson of R&D advised junior faculty members to submit short-term project proposals to the scrutiny committee before 20th February 2024.	The scrutiny committee reviews the proposals, selects five projects from all departments, and forwards them to the R&D committee and the head of the institution for application for RGUHS grants.
4	It is resolved that the members applauded the proposal to develop a concept bank and suggested proceeding immediately.	A task force with members from various departments was created to develop the concept notebook, focusing on a multidisciplinary approach.	Workshop and training plans are being prepared for launch next quarter. Collaboration with external experts is progressing, and several contributors are interested in the concept notebook. The project is on schedule, and updates will follow in upcoming meetings.
5	It is resolved that the projects will be selected based on a multidisciplinary approach with impact. It is further resolved that the selected proposals should have practical applicability, sustainability, and scope for scalability, as the same shell facilitates the nurturing of research acumen among students and faculty.	The Scrutiny members were assigned a set of projects to review, with a standardized scoring system to rate each project. After individual assessments, the committee reconvened to discuss and consolidate scores, ensuring a transparent and collective decision-making process.	The scrutiny committee reviewed 9 projects from all departments and forwarded them to the R&D committee and the head of the institution for application for grant seed money.
6	It was resolved that the workshops shortlist target both early-career researchers and experienced faculty members, aiming to bridge the gap in knowledge around these critical areas.	The organizing committee started crafting a strategy to promote the events, targeting social media, industry newsletters, and partnership announcements.	The committee intends to build on previous achievements for the upcoming Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) workshop, which the various departments in TOCP will organize on the 10th and 13th of February 2024, the 16th and 26th of April 2024, and 4th of May 2024. The Pharmacy Practice will organize the entrepreneurship workshop on 9 th March 2024.

7	After a thorough discussion, it was resolved to launch the Oxford College of Pharmacy journal with an ISSN, and obtaining UGC indexing is crucial for enhancing the college's academic reputation, providing a platform for faculty and students to publish their research, and contributing to the knowledge in the field of pharmacy.	A committee comprising faculty members and administrative staff was formed to oversee the launch of the journal with an ISSN and obtaining UGC indexing. The committee was tasked with setting up the editorial board, establishing the submission and review process, and ensuring that the journal meets the necessary criteria for ISSN and UGC indexing.	As of the last update, the committee has made significant progress in setting up the journal's infrastructure.
8	It was resolved to form a scientific advisory committee. This scientific advisory committee, comprising experienced faculty members, will evaluate and provide feedback on UG, PG, and Pharm.D research proposals.	The chairperson advised the R&D committee to initiate the process of identifying potential faculty members for the scientific advisory committee based on their qualifications and research competency.	The process of constituting a scientific advisory committee is underway. The identified faculty members have been approached, and their interest and willingness to serve on the committee are being confirmed. The agenda's status is progressing positively, and updates will be provided in the upcoming meetings.

SUB: "Expression of Gratitude to Principal and Management: RGUHS Project Funding was Sanctioned"

Respected Mam,

I am delighted to announce that all five of our short-term research proposals have secured funding from Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) for the academic year 2024-25. I am writing to express my sincere gratitude for your invaluable support and guidance throughout this process. I also want to thank the research guides, students, and management for their unwavering support and advice. This achievement truly reflects our entire research team's hard work and collaboration.

Thank you for being so supportive

With kind regards

Congratulation

ACTION TAKEN REPORT-2023-24

S. No	Resolution	Action Taken	Status
1	The committee members approved the MOM and the action report of previous R&D minutes.	At the previous Research and Development (R&D) meeting, the committee members reviewed and approved the Minutes of Meeting (MOM) and the action taken report.	All members expressed satisfaction with the work done.
2	It was resolved to develop university and institution guidelines for research activities to ensure clarity, practicability, and accessibility.	The committee discussed the status of RGUHS-approved student short-term projects and resolved to ensure that all projects adhere to the university's guidelines and requirements.	The status of the discussion and subsequent actions will be regularly monitored to ensure that all RGUHS-approved projects are progressing according to the university's standards.
3	It is resolved that a comprehensive gap analysis of faculty competencies related to their current and future needs be conducted.	The R&D committee has progressed on the concept note for bank development aligned with faculty competencies.	The committee is optimistic that the revised concept note will more accurately reflect the faculty's needs and competencies. The follow-up meeting will be crucial in finalizing the concept note for bank development before its submission for approval.
4	The chairperson and members reviewed feedback from the RM, IPR, and FDP conferences.	The committee scheduled regular seminars and workshops on RM and IPR to further educate and update the staff on these crucial areas. Additionally, external experts would be invited	The action points are currently being implemented, and the planning for the upcoming seminars on RM and IPR is underway. The committee is working on finalizing the dates and speakers for the next sessions to ensure the continuous professional to conduct specialized sessions for a more comprehensive understanding.	development of the staff in these areas.

5	It was resolved that Dr. Mahesh would be appointed as a new member	The chairperson was tasked with formally inviting Dr. Mahesh to join the committee and communicating this decision to the organization's members.	The committee is looking forward to Dr. Mahesh's contributions and expects that his addition will further strengthen the committee's effectiveness.

The Honourable Chairman Sir,

SUB: Request seed money grant for the identified project's further scope

Respected sir,

As an endeavor to augment research culture and instill research acumen amongst students and the teaching fraternity, the Oxford College of Pharmacy has constituted an R&D committee that focuses and identifies the student and faculty projects with scope for further enhancement, such as publications converting into experimental grants. A seed money grant shall enable the student/faculty to conduct a pilot study of the proposed projects.

In line with this and reference to the research promotion policy, the R&D committee has scrutinized 54 projects and shortlisted 09 projects eligible for further scope.

The details of the project are enclosed here for your kind perusal. So kindly grant the seed money.
